

Li Gang Resume

Li Gang, a native of Puyang city, Henan province, is a professor and a distinguished leader in the Applied Economics discipline, a key provincial field of study. He serves as the academic leader of the Henan Provincial Department of Education and is recognized as one of the outstanding educational management personnel within the department. Additionally, he has been honored as an advanced individual in private education by the Henan Provincial Department of Education.

Li Gang has also been recognized as an Advanced Individual for contributions to stability and security in Zhengzhou and as an Advanced Individual in Ping An of Gongyi City. He currently holds the positions of Senior Advisor at the Henan Provincial Education Logistics Association and Vice President of the Henan Provincial Human Resources Development Research Association. In Gongyi City, he also serves as Vice President of the Association for Urbanization Construction and Regional Economic Research.

In recent years, Li Gang has published two books and 16 academic papers. He has hosted and participated in 26 provincial, ministerial, and departmental-level projects and has received nine prestigious awards.